

BIG LOVE

© Belinda McArdle 2019

Could you be wilder could you be could you be?
I need a little bit of shade, you plant me a tree
I need a thimble of water, you bring me the sea
I look for something to read and you make – a big ol' story of me
Could you be wilder could you be could you be----?

Could you be sweeter could you be could you be?
I want to rest now in comfort, you share you best things
When I feel singed by the moonlight, you build me new wings
I need a little bit of magic – and that is when we sing
Could you be sweeter could you be could you be?

It's something big, It's something big
It's the big love it's the big love
It's something big, It's something big
It's the big love it's the big love
Love they write about in songs, love we search for all along
In every dream in every poem, in every corner of every home
It's the big love it's the big love, could it be?

Could you be bolder could you be oh could you?
I've seen them go 'round things ,and watched you walk through
You promised to stay on the ground I found you on the moon
My head's in my hands but my heart is in yours, beating a steady one two
Could you be bolder could you be oh could you?

It's something big, It's something big
It's the big love it's the big love
It's something big, It's something big
It's the big love it's the big love
Love they write about in songs, love we search for all along
In every dream in every poem, in every corner of every home
It's the big love it's the big love, could it be?
