

I'LL TRY

© Belinda McArdle 2019

I'm not the only one who's feeling scattered, I'm not the only one to lose my cool
I'm not the only one whose spirit's battered, I'm not the only one who feels a fool

Everything is new (everything is new) when it comes to you, everything is new (everything is new), for you too

I'll try I'll try - To hold your hands and look you in the eye
And listen, listen - To each and every word and what I heard and what it means, in what you say and in the spaces in between, I'll try

I'm not the only one who's clearing tatters, I'm not the only one who needs new tools
I'm not the only one who feels it matters, I'm not the only one who broke the rules

*Everything is new (everything is new) when it comes to you,
everything is new (everything is new), for you too*

I'll try I'll try - To hold your hands and look you in the eye
And listen, listen - To each and every word and what I heard
and what it means, in what you say and in the spaces in between, I'll try

In every breath, in every battle with your will I love you more and still

I'll try I'll try - To hold your hands and look you in the eye
And listen, listen - To each and every word and what I heard
and what it means, in what you say and in the spaces in between, I'll try